MURAL

Biography

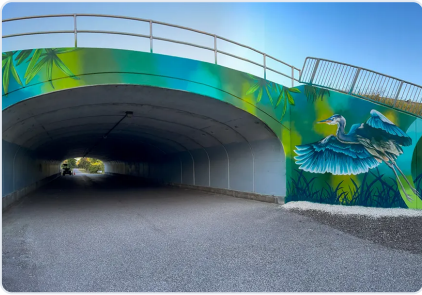

Taylor Smith, the left handed creative also known as Dreamweaver is a South Florida based street artist and muralist. Originally from Oregon and raised just south of Atlanta, Taylor launched her career as an artist and set her sights on Florida shortly after graduating with a BA in communications and fine art from Georgia College and State University in 2017. Taylor works mainly in the medium of spray paint; she grew up heavily influenced by street art and graffiti culture which fuels her passion for public art and collaboration to this day. Her work is primarily inspired by nature and often features realistic portraiture, abstract patterns, and bold color combinations. From canvas to concrete walls and beyond - Dreamweaver has showcased work outside the walls of traditional venues nationwide for five years and counting.
