TEMPORARY INTERVENTION / POP-UP

Biography

Nakul Patel sees the line as self-governing that can be incorporated, crafted, and manifested with imagination and it could blend into the visual thinking process observed as an act of seeing into the unknown, referring instinctively to represent lost ethos of making, current culture, urban setup, modern-day literature, and fine arts. Line finding is a complex process, depths that he appreciates about sculpture making. "My language is based between intuition, geometry, space, and time, it permits me to express the disfunction of language in our time, trying to depict complex interconnectedness in mathematical order. Through structure augmentation I see ideas depend on an inventive portion of how I regard the image that seems nearly impossible to attain. Through parallel and interdisciplinary practices as references to configure the pure tense and peril involved in finding the true nature of line and figure how to think in art. Wireframe how I respond in the manner of the intuitive understanding language of conurbation, culture, and space and line in art through experiments with chance, forms, and representation of continuous emphasis on pure abstraction. Presently devoted to preparation for a solo show, which will contain drawings, sculpture, relief panel, and prints respectively. With the use of particular vocabulary and sometimes repetitive, express very self-aware personal super-consciousness through forms developed by geometric construction which in a way stands for individuality about the whole. Tensed relation of parts with the whole. Perceptual dynamics add its effect in space of occurrence of light and shade, possibilities within construction, the opportunity of construction is impulsive and is observed at a continuous pace, that success from the continuation of earlier composition and drawings. In my practice design a conscious article that suggests order, problem-solving all-time fondness for trends in architecture, cinema, graphic design, engineering, and music."
